BPSPOUSES WEBSITE

BPspouses

Our web site offers Information on: Support for everyone, spouse stories, FAQ's, Border Patrol towns, academy, and helpful Spanish web sites.

We have the majority of the Border Patrol cities / towns covered with local E-mail support. These volunteers are willing to help find your family a place to live.

In most cases we will look at the property and take digital pictures, send them via E-mail for viewing, we will give our opinion of the property, and of the neighborhood.

BPspouses web site has general information, i.e. Population, shopping, restaurants, local city URLs, internet providers, concerning the town you will soon be calling home.

Utility companies are listed and their contact information to where the utilities can be turned on, and in most cases even before arriving at the new house / apartment.

HOMEFRONT NEWS

Homefront Newsletter

Our newsletter was created in July 2005, due to the huge amount of need.

Our newsletter will educate your family about life on the southern border, and living as a Border Patrol family, safety issues, town events, support articles from local businesses.

Sign-up for our newsletter today to keep your family informed and safe.

HOMEFRONT

Yuma Border Patrol Is Expanding, So Are We

SUPPORT FORUM

BP Spouses Support Forum

While the trainee is at the academy, we are here for the spouse / significant other to discuss and deal with fears, problems, stress, or myths, about life on the border, life as a Border Patrol family, and until they pass their ten-month tests, and thereafter if we are needed.

Supporting the Border Patrol Spouses

We are here, when help is needed. When the time comes for the trainee to find a place to live, we will help you find that special place.

LOCAL SUPPORT

BPspouses Support is NOT a "wives club" or a "social affair".

Our focus is on the trainee and their family as a whole for the first 10 months of their trainee status.

The local support will provide information on housing, schools, businesses, employment for the spouse, college / university, play groups, chamber of commerce, community events.

Some will provide certificates and/or coupons from local business, and anything else that might benefit the trainee and their family.

We encourage each new spouse and/or agent to get involved.